

SHOWCASE

Project name: Arte Consultores

Description: Arte is a company in the area of information technology that has as main line of action the development of information systems and the integration of these systems, offering innovative technology solutions based on open standards, cloud computing and high quality services so that Increase competitiveness, innovation capacity, capacity for evolution and generate added value for our customers.

Arte was born in early 2005 with the objective of advising and participating in the solution of projects in which a high level of technology is required and where quality and technological innovation are its differentiating concepts. Arte is an independent private equity company with no ties to ICT, industrial or financial groups, which has based its growth on its service vocation and commitment to its clients. The mission of Arte is to offer high quality products and services in the Cloud to companies and administrations that have their services online.

In Arte we consider that the relations university and company are very beneficial for both parties. Proof of this is that we have always collaborated closely with the University of La Laguna in subjects of work in company, co-tutoring various end-of-career projects and R + D + i projects of the University or our own.
